

MASTER COUNTERTOP

COLLECTION 2021

CERESER
VERONA

An aerial photograph of a mountain range at sunrise or sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, casting a warm, golden glow over the scene. The sky is filled with soft, wispy clouds, and a thick layer of white clouds blankets the valleys and lower slopes of the mountains. The mountain peaks are dark and jagged, standing out against the lighter sky and clouds. The overall atmosphere is serene and majestic.

PERLA VENATA

The image shows a close-up of Perla Venata marble, characterized by a light beige or cream-colored base with intricate, organic, and somewhat chaotic veining in shades of tan and light brown. The veins are irregular and flow across the surface in various directions.

NACARADO

The image displays Nacarado marble, featuring a complex pattern of wavy, vertical veins. The color palette is diverse, including deep browns, dark purples, and greys, all set against a lighter, greyish-beige background. The veins are more structured and layered than those of Perla Venata.

WHITE MACAUBAS

The image shows White Macaubas marble, which has a clean, light-colored background with subtle, horizontal veining. The veins are thin and delicate, appearing in soft shades of grey and off-white, creating a sophisticated and understated pattern.

WHITE QUARTZITE

The image depicts White Quartzite, characterized by a very light, almost white base with fine, horizontal, wavy veins. The veins are thin and dark, providing a subtle contrast to the bright background, resulting in a classic and elegant marble pattern.
